4. Guidelines for Implementation of Policy

Management may consider these guidelines for implementing this Policy:

A. Credit Union management will be responsible for the review of any member issue that appears to be abusive or threatening towards any staff or other members. Employees are to report to their immediate supervisor incidents where a member is abusive behavior. This review will include discussions with any staff that was involved in or witnessed inappropriate behavior from a member. Staff and their immediate manager will complete a Serious Incident Report that will be forwarded to management for review and included in the personnel file(s) of any employee(s) involved in the reported incident.

B. Upon completion of management's review, if a member's actions constituted Abusive Conduct as defined in this Policy, that member may be denied access and services in accordance with the Sanctions provisions of this Policy. The offending member will be reasonably notified of the Credit Union's determination and action in writing.

C. Management will keep a written record of the incident(s) that caused the limiting of services. Management may reinstate denied services if management is provided with information that reasonably assures the Credit Union that the abusive or threatening incident(s) were isolated event(s).

D. In the discretion of management, member misconduct that is of a vexatious, threatening or possible criminal nature, may be reported to law enforcement authorities at the local level, or if management deems necessary or prudent, to Federal law enforcement authorities.
